SEAWARD BOUND--Cyclists head out from Sunday River Ski Resort's Summit Hotel Friday morning on their way to the Samoset Resort in Rockland. More than 750 bicyclists--some from as far away as Minnesota--started seaward Friday for the three-day Sunday River to the Sea. The 180-mile ride is a fundraiser for the Maine Lung Association. This year's field is expected to raise more than $325,000. More than 100 volunteers helped with registration and along the course as bike mechanics and first-aid personnel. Riders spent Friday night at University of Maine at Farmington and Saturday night at Colby College in Waterville.

Chapman found guilty

By LISA WILLIAMS ACKLEY
Special to The Citizen

David Chapman, 39, of Gilead faces 25 years to life in prison after being convicted of murder by an Oxford County Superior Court jury on June 17 for the shotgun slaying of his sister's fiancé last Oct. 9 in Gilead.

Chapman's lawyer said he plans to appeal the guilty verdict, reached by jurors after four hours of deliberation.

The body of Richard Hutchins, 28, was found on a right-of-way used as a path between the home Chapman shared with his girlfriend and the trailer Hutchins shared with 31-year-old Susan Chapman, their young child and another child of Susan Chapman's.

Justice Paul A. Fritzsche told jurors that, according to evidence presented by the state, they could find Chapman guilty of either murder or the lesser offense of manslaughter.

According to testimony by Dr. Henry Ryan, the state's chief medical examiner, Hutchins died from a 12-gauge shotgun wound to the chest. Ryan said the shell that killed Hutchins entered the chest between the fourth and fifth ribs "doing considerable damage to the left lung and the higher portion of the heart." Ryan said the heart's right ventricle was "virtually destroyed" by the shot. The medical examiner stated, "I believe the individual was instantaneously beyond any form of medical assistance" after the blast.

State Police Detective Joseph Roy Gallant, a ballistics expert, said that two spent shells found at the murder scene, one of which was found approximately 19 feet away from Hutchins' body, were both fired from the 12-gauge single-shot shotgun police recovered three days after the shooting from a boggy area in extremely thick raspberry-blackberry bushes some 265 feet behind the home Chapman shared with his girlfriend, Caroline Sweetser, off the Northwest Bethel Road. Refuge director:

Future of Umbagog plan is in landowners' hands

By WENDY HANSCOM

The future of the Lake Umbagog National Wildlife Refuge depends on the willingness of area land owners to sell property and conservation easement rights, according to Refuge Manager Steve Breaser, who spoke Monday night before the Friends of the Androscoggin.

Breaser, who was appointed as refuge manager last year, told the group that so far only 150 acres have been purchased for the planned 30,000 acre refuge. The U.S. Fish and Wildlife Service is currently negotiating with the James River and Boise Cascade paper companies to purchase approximately 6,000 acres and to buy conservation easements on another 4,500 acres.

The Trust for New Hampshire Lands' has also purchased 446 acres of lake shorefront and an additional 2,258 acres of conservation easement in the lake watershed from the James River Corp. Maine has also been slated to purchase lands and wetlands along the Rapid River. The two states will hold their land purchases in trust for the Lake Umbagog Refuge.

Newry valuations jump

Many lots near skiway go from $25,000 to $60,000

By WENDY HANSCOM

Most 1993 Newry tax bills will reflect a dramatic increase in land valuation.

Newry selectmen, who also serve as the town's assessors, have recently completed a revaluation of all land in the town.

The value of land near Sunday River Ski Resort will take the highest jump. For example, in 1992, one acre of land in Viking Village was valued at $6,000; in 1993 the same acre is valued at $50,000.

Selectman Steve Wight said he cannot predict how the land valuation hike will effect individual tax bills.

"Tax bills are based on the total valuation of the town," Wight said. "Individual taxpayers pay a percentage of the total that the town needs. But I think for the most part it's not going to cause an increase in taxes."

Any prediction he might make is further complicated by the fact that the valuation of Sunday River's Summit Hotel has yet to be added to the town's tax rolls, he said.

The town has hired an outside consultant to help assess the building, which opened last fall.

Keeping up with the state

The land reevaluation was necessary, Wight said, because the town valuation was falling behind the state's valuation of property in Newry.

"The state bases its valuation on property sales," Wight said. "Our value changes reflect market prices, which seem to be driven by proximity to Sunday River Ski Area. 'Ski-in, ski-out' land is hot, because people attach a higher monetary value to it."

Wight said that the town valuation was at about 70 percent of what the state determined land in Newry was worth.

If the town drops below the 70 percent minimum set by the state, Newry could be penalized.

Tree growth tax reimbursement from the state, for example, could be with withheld or severely cut back.

"As assessors we're tasked by the state to value land at the market value," Wight said. "The state compares assessment to the sales value."

Newry valuation hikes

Bethel voters to state planners:

Thanks, but no thanks

By MICHAEL DANIELS

It showed pretty clearly what the priorities are--twice as many Bethel voters turned out Monday night to reject an $18,355 grant than had turned out two weeks earlier to pass a municipal budget of more than $1 million.

The grant in question was being offered by the state Department of Economic and Community Development. It was offered as an incentive to Bethel to begin a revision of the town's comprehensive plan.

But the vast majority of the voters who turned out for Monday would have none of it.

Planning Board member Don Feeney led the attack on the grant, arguing that Bethel was doing a fine job on its own and didn't need the strings that came attached to the state money.

Those strings included a town match of up to $6,118, a deadline of two years for completing the plan, and the requirement that the plan comply with the terms of the state's comprehensive planning law--among them a stipulation that the plan define at least two development zones in the town.

"We already have good, functional land use ordinances," Feeney said, including a site plan review, shoreland and floodplain ordinances, and subdivision and private road design and construction standards.

Of all the state's requirements, zoning was the biggest problem.

In a handout circulated prior to the meeting, Feeney wrote, "If Bethel accepts the proposed state planning grant, then Bethel's

NEVER SAW $7,000 OFFER

To the Editor:

We would like to clarify a statement that was reported in Friday's "Lewiston Sun-Journal," that it was not miscommunication, the offer of $7,000 was never made to us until Thursday, June 17.

The negotiations were not very diplomatic in our opinion. We were never asked to come to the town office to negotiate this matter--only one call by phone in March or April asking if we would accept the $3,500 as taken care of. I may be 65, but not senile or hard of hearing, so if $7,000 was offered, I think I know the difference between $3,500 and $7,000.

It's our understanding that we as taxpayer pay a town manager and selectmen and have a town office to conduct business in it, not by phone calls.

If the town manager and selectmen conduct all their business this way, we can see why they have had so many problems getting the easements.

PUT IT BEHIND US

To the Editor:

It is with great concern that I write this letter. Since the middle of October my family and I have been under a great emotional distress. And it has disrupted our daily family living.

My son suffered great emotional distress during this long ordeal and to those who did not know him has caused undue defamations of character. As his mother and his brothers and sisters as well we have all suffered in our individual lives. We wish to thank Minnie (Richie Hutchins mother) and all her family for the belief and faith and compassion they showed towards my son during this time. A special thanks to Detective Pickett and Attorney General Stokes for their valuable support and guidance.

Might I add it always pays to tell the truth. If you always do that you'll never fail, these are the values I grew up with. And have tried to impress in all my children. The courts here came to their decisions June 19. And justice has been well served, proving that the justice system does work. I pray sincerely that all family and friends concerned heed the judges advice and put this all behind us and get on with our lives. In a constructive manner not a destructive one. Again thanks to all those who had faith in my son.

You will never know how appreciative we all are for your support.

RETURN OF WATER TROUGH

To the Editor:

I join with Mr. Howe in the request to return the watering trough to lower Main St. I have been coming to Bethel for 28 summers and rejoiced in the few changes over the years. Bethel is lovely and I hate to see things that make up its character removed. Don't make Bethel like so many small towns, ruined in the name of progress.

IN SUPPORT OF UNIVERSAL HEALTH CARE, AND LD 1285

To the Editor:

I believe that reform of the manner in which health care is provided is urgently needed in the state of Maine. The status quo is not working, and affordable and accessible health care is lacking. The bill, LD 1285, co-authored by Senator Dale McCormick and Representative Charlene Rydell, can bring about the positive change needed to ensure quality health care for all Maine citizens and at the same time lower the escalating costs incurred with the current system.

Health care is a right not a privilege. The costs of health care have risen so much that many people are denied this right. When a hospital charges $12 for a bandaid, $8 for a single tablet of Tylenol and $50 for an ace bandage, something is seriously wrong with this system. It does not take a PhD in economics to figure this out. It makes me angry. Administrative costs including paperwork have contributed greatly to the health care crises. The solution is a single payer system with a cap on administrative costs.

I am aware that many health care centers and hospitals do offer care on a sliding fee basis and some provide free care through the Hill-Burton Act. But still the cost for this care is shifted to us all in the form of taxes and high insurance premiums. This does not solve the overall problem of runaway costs. Maine health care costs last year were $3.3 billion dollars.

Insurance companies are part of the problem and not the solution. I have heard so many stories of people denied coverage because of certain medical conditions and of their struggle with the labyrinth of bureaucracy to settle bills. People that also have large out-of-pocket expenses for the medicines they need. Insurance company executives are very highly paid. Many of their CEO's have salaries in the millions. Aetna's CEO made $1,120,500 in 1992. There is a clear connection between these overpaid individuals and the runaway costs of health care.

I also believe that having health insurance does not necessarily mean that you have quality health care since it often does not cover basic preventative medicine, such as mammograms. LD 1285 is a bill that will focus on preventative and primary care.

LD 1285 is not a free lunch. We will pay for this, but we will pay less and in a more equitable manner. We currently pay for health care in many different ways, such as insurance premiums, deductibles, co-payments, workers' compensation, auto insurance and taxes. LD 1285 would streamline our way of paying by creating a Maine State Health Agency funded by contributions of an income based premium from individuals, a health care assessment from businesses and money from the federal government.

Health care reform is a vital and complex issue. Lets keep a dialogue going and decide what our needs are. I urge you to learn more about LD 1285 and ask your legislators to support it.

A GREAT SHOW

To the Editor:

How lucky I was last week to be able to sit and watch a charming performance of Meredith Wilson's 1957 musical comedy "The Music Man." Thirty-six years later, Susan Clement Farrar in conjunction with her Children's Dance Theater of Bethel and what appeared to be the entire community, some 150, successfully staged one of the most difficult musicals to perform.

Though performed that many years ago the moral is as modern as today. A confidence trickster (Professor Harold Hill, played by Peter Lawton) in a small town in Iowa successfully wins over this innocent town known as River City. Harmful trickster is he? When everyone involved walks away "thinking positively," than, I think not. How wonderful our society can still think this way.

Susan Farrar thought this way and was able to pull off a major production, the likes of which one hardly sees beyond a major metropolitan area, and as this writer can attest, it is no easy feat. As difficult a production as "The Music Man" is, Farrar cleverly slipped in numbers totally unrelated to the original production, giving to those who may not have the opportunity a chance to perform. Done so well were some of these performances, one would think they were in the original stage play.

Not even the original production in 1957 went off without a snag; (such as when David Burns, the original mayor, tripped coming down off the grandstand and nearly broke his arm) then.

Though it is a bit cheating, this production was a complete lip-synch. Well, we can't have everything. "Madame Librarian" was a show stopper in 1957 and was pulled off just as successfully in this production. The choreography of the library kids was impeccable. The major played flawlessly by Frank Vogt, his lip synching was nearly perfect throughout the entire production. Such a mayor we could all stand in this town of Bethel. His gestures were performed so perfectly we wonder if he's done this before. Peter Lawton as the professor and Lainey Cross as Eulalie also gave quite wonderful performances.

What can one say about our little children? We must continue to encourage them.

Of very notable interest were the "Charleston Fling" and "Wake Me Up Before You Go, Go." I don't quite remember them in the original but they sure were well done today. I must comment on the performance of Emily Danforth in "She's like the wind." Rarely does one see such natural ability and beauty in a community production. This young lady should be guided to pursue theater as a career. The dancers in "Rhythm is a Dancer" were also wonderful.

Although the sound began inaudible, obviously Farrar was able to correct that mid production as well. The scenery was notable but the costumes were superb.

Brava. Can we look forward to another?

WE NEED A STUDIO

To the Editor:

Last week the "Music Man" dancers, singers, actors, artists, backstage workers all pulled together and presented a performance that delighted the community. For that I thank all of you.

In "Music Man" Professor Harold Hill said, "River City's gonna have a Boys Band and I mean she needs it today." Well, the Bethel community needs an art center and I mean she needs it today.

Yes, this is a plea for Children's Dance Theater to have a home. I want to teach all those talented young people again this fall and a few years beyond--God willing--and there is absolutely no place in town for a studio.

We need an art center. A place for our dancers, our very own band concert, local theater, art studio, jazz band, string quartet--the possibilities are endless, so that young talent can be trained and nurtured.

We have no-how a-plenty. Carpenters, plumbers, electricians, architects, designers and a work force of high school men and women looking for work this summer. Are the days of barn raising a thing of the past?

All we need is a patron of the arts or several to finance us so we can build it. The ashes of Children's Dance Theater are still smoldering from the fire. Why can't an art center be built on that land and like the Phoenix bird spring from its ashes and rise up for future generations.

Who knows what wonders will come forth?

Susan Clement Farrar

THIS WEEK AT THE Moses Mason House

All members and friends of the Bethel Historical Society are reminded that the annual picnic will be held on Thursday, July 1, at the home of Rupert and Ina Grover in Mason, weather permitting. If inclement, the picnic will be held at the home of Dan and Nancy Grover, also in Mason. Those wishing to go to the picnic, should assemble at Society headquarters, the Dr. Moses Mason House on Broad Street by 5:30 p.m. A stop along the way will focus attention on the mill sites once owned and used by Dr. Moses Mason for whom the Town of Mason was named 150 years ago this year. The program will feature a presentation relating to the history of Mason, which because of declining population became a township in the 1930s. Anyone wishing to attend this picnic is encouraged to bring a picnic lunch. Lemonade will be provided by the Society. For further information, please call the society office at 824-2908.

On Saturday, June 19, the Society hosted the quarterly meeting of the Maine Society, Sons of the American Revolution. Speaker for the meeting was retired history professor Dr. Ernest Cassara, who spoke on the topic "George Mason: The Forgotten Patriot." Society Director Stanley R. Howe was honored with a Meritorious Service Award from the Maine Society for his many years of service to Maine S.A.R. and for his long service in preserving and promoting the cause of state and local history.

The Annual mason Family Gathering was held on Sunday, June 20 at the Dr. Moses Mason House. Members of the Mason family came from as far away as Delray Beach, Fla. Society director Stanley R. Howe made a presentation on the life and times of Agnes Straw Mason in honor of the bicentenary of her birth.

Guilty

Jack Simmons said in his opening statements to the jury, "When this is over ... evidence will show that it was Scott Pike that pulled the trigger and shot Richard Hutchins to death."

However, Pike, 21, of Bethel, took the witness stand the next day and denied killing Hutchins. He said Hutchins bested Chapman at arm wrestling and then had him down on the floor twice, letting him up both times. Pike said shortly after Chapman left, he and Hutchins and Susan Chapman heard two gunshots outside which prompted Hutchins to say he was going to go out and take the gun away from whoever was shooting. Pike said after he and Hutchins exited the trailer he heard a third shot and then a loud groan. He said Hutchins didn't answer him when he called out to him.

Throughout the trial, Simmons put forth an alternate suspect theory, saying there were three shots fired on the night Hutchins died, two of which he acknowledged came from Chapman's gun. He alleged the third shot came from a sawed-off shotgun owned by Pike.

State Police Detective Richard Pickett testified that the entire area where Hutchins' body was found by his cousin Tony Bennett was searched for the presence of a third shell, saying he even went back later with a metal detector.

Gallant testified that the 16-gauge shotgun belonging to Pike had not been shot recently, and said it could not have been the weapon that killed Hutchins.

The day after Pike testified, Chapman took the witness stand and said he never saw Hutchins after 10:30 p.m. on Oct. 8, that they'd never argued, and said he didn't leave Hutchins' and Susan Chapman's home angry. He also admitted he'd lied to police on Oct. 9 when he said during a taped interview that he hadn't been drinking that night nor used a gun in two or three years. Chapman said, looking directly at the jury, "I did not shoot Richie Hutchins, and that's the God honest truth."

Sweetser testified at Chapman's bail hearing last fall in 11th District Court in Paris that Chapman had returned to their home after leaving with a shotgun saying of Hutchins when he returned, "I shot him, or I got him."

However, Sweetser testified at Chapman's trial that, while she remembers making that statement under oath, Chapman never said it.

Hutchins' mother, Mildred McAlister of North Waterford, said after the verdict was announced, "I'm tickled with the verdict. It's not going to bring Richie back, but maybe it will keep him from killing someone else. I wish they had the death penalty in Maine because that's what he deserves."

comprehensive plan must call for zoning. This is a requirement of the planning grant. If Bethel revises and updates its comprehensive plan as its ordinance directs, and without the planning grant, then Bethel's comprehensive plan does not have to address zoning.

Feeney concluded by noting that the Planning Board already had a steering committee preparing to revise the comprehensive plan. And a new plan is scheduled to be completed and adopted by 1996--without state help.

"We can shape our own future or have to accept state direction," Feeney concluded. "I think we can solve all our problems from the bottom up."

From the loud applause that followed Feeney's presentation, it was clear what fate awaited the grant.

Lost cause

But supporters gamely made their case.

Walter Hatch argued that volunteers, however well intended, would not be able to do an adequate job of revising the comprehensive plan.

"If we try to do it ourselves, without state funding, we'd be ham stringing ourselves," he said.

Kirk Siegel agreed with Feeney that the town had good ordinances, "but the missing link," Siegel said, "is that our ordinances don't distinguish one part of town from another."

Without such a distinction, he said, "we can have economic development that gradually eats away at the qualities of Bethel that are special to us, and special to the visitors and tourists who support many of our businesses."

Bonny Pooley argued that it was unrealistic for the town to think it could go its own way, ignoring what's happening elsewhere in the state. "We're part of the state. Let's not fool ourselves that we're independent of it."

But when Bob Saunders called the motion, after 45 minutes of discussion, the vote was not even close. Of the nearly 200 people packed into the Telstar lecture hall, only two dozen or so voted to accept the grant.

With the grant defeated, an accompanying article calling for the town to raise its matching funds was quickly passed at the amount of zero dollars.

Fund shifts OK'd

Voters also approved, following only brief discussion, an article allowing the town to shift money from undesignated surplus to cover shortfalls in accounts that had been overspent.

During the 1993 fiscal year (which ends June 30) an estimated $62,000 lapsed into undesignated surplus from town accounts which have not used up their full budget, according to Town Manager

Madeleine Henley.

Three accounts were overspent and needed a total of $34,000 replenishing: general government ($2,000), municipal buildings ($2,000) and public works ($30,000).

The largest overrun, $21,000, was caused by the selectmen's decision to hire an outside contractor for putting up the salt-sand pile last winter, Henley said.

But this year both the town Budget Committee and voters at the annual Town Meeting rejected continuing the practice.

The final article on Monday's warrant, taking an easement over the property of George and Betty Gilbert, was postponed indefinitely, on the advice of the town's legal counsel (see box).

became official on Nov. 17, 1992, is the 485th National Wildlife Refuge in the U.S.

In all, Breese said, his department hopes to purchase about 90 percent of the land for the refuge from James River and Boise Cascade paper companies, and the Seven Islands Land Company.

The Fish and Wildlife Service is most interested in purchasing the bogs, low-lying lands, and backwash of the Magalloway and Androscoggin rivers, Breese said.

The service will also try to purchase conservation easements in other areas, he said. The easements will allow private landowners to retain ownership of their land, but forbid development rights.

Boating, fishing and hunting inside the refuge will probably continue as it has in the past, Breese said.

The first land purchase by the Fish and Wildlife service for the refuge was the former Brown Owl store on Route 16, about 5 miles north of Errol, N.H., which now serves as refuge headquarters.

Why protect the area?

The area surrounding Lake Umbagog provides habitat for several species unique to New Hampshire, Breese said, including the state's only pair of nesting eagles.

"The Lake Umbagog area has the best wildlife value and habitat left in the state of New Hampshire," Breese said. "Maine has vast amounts of wild land left, but New Hampshire does not, so it seems a little bit more important to New Hampshire."

The Floating Island, declared a National Landmark in 1978, is also now part of the refuge.

The lake is also a stopping point for scores of migratory birds, Breese said.

There are currently 22 pairs of loons and 30 pairs of osprey nesting on the lake, he said.

"It's one of the richest eastern habitats in North America," Breese said.

Anyone who would like more information about the refuge or its volunteer programs can stop by the former Brown Owl or call (603) 482-3415.

The story in last week's Citizen regarding logging and Andover's water supply said the matter was discussed at an Andover selectman's meeting.

The story should have said the issue was taken up at an Andover Planning Board meeting.

NOTES FROM Adult Education

The Adult Learning Center at the Ethel Bisbee School will be open for Academic Skills instruction for summer hours starting July 6. Adults who are interested in working on upgrading their skills in math, reading or writing, or in working toward passing the GED exam, are welcome to enroll.

Open hours include Wednesday and Thursday mornings from 9 a.m. to noon, and Wednesday evenings from 5:30 to 8:30 p.m. All instruction is individualized, and students may start throughout the summer. According to Adult and Community Education Director Cathy Newell, "The summer has become increasingly popular with our students --many are continuing on from the spring term, or are seeking to get a jump-start on fall. Several plan to enroll at technical colleges and are honing their math and writing skills in preparation for placement testing."

There is no charge for Learning Center classes. All Learning Center students will have the use of the Community Computer Lab with a range of academic skills software. New for the summer is the Milliken Reading Series, which provides reading instruction and exercises ranging from 0 to Grade 12 levels. This software has been obtained with grants from The Bettement Fund and Carl Perkins funds and is used by CMTC's Developmental Studies program.

SAD 44 APPOINTMENTS

The SAD 44 school board made several personnel appointments last week at its regular meeting.

Board chairman Margaret Hand was elected as a NOVA director. She replaces Bethel director Linda Saunders, who did not run for reelection after a three-year term on the board.

Charles Plummer was also appointed part-time principal of the Andover and Woodstock elementary schools.

Superintendent-elect Ronald Jenkins was approved as state agent for Gilead and Upton for the 1993-94 school year.

Lynne M. Morsehead was also appointed as an education technician at Telstar Middle School special services for the 1993-94 school year.

The board also approved a state of summer adult education teachers.

GRADUATION VIDEOTAPES

Channel IV will take pre-paid orders for tapes of graduation through June 30. Orders should be sent to Channel IV, RR 1, Box 1220, Bethel, ME 04217. Checks should be payable to "Channel IV" for $18. per tape. Orders may also be made in person at the Adult Education office at Telstar High School.

Jeanette Baldrige will be the morning Learning Center instructor. Baldrige is an exciting addition to SAD #44 and is a very experienced Adult Education teacher. She has taught for adult education programs in Mechanic Falls and South Paris, as well as for CMTC. She has a special interest in writing, math and in the use of computers. Karen Bean will run the Learning Center on Wednesday evenings. Bean teaches at Telstar Middle School and has been a frequent adult education teacher for SAD #44, specializing in GED preparation and writing. She has also taught for Project Rural Workplace.

All new students enrolling should call the Adult Education office at 824-2780, to arrange for an intake appointment with Merrill Bittner, the guidance counselor for adult education. Appointments are available on Tuesday, July 6.

Computer lab to open

The Community Computer Lab at the Adult Learning Center will be open for public use during the summer starting on July 9.

The hours will be Friday afternoons from 3 to 6 p.m. and Saturday mornings from 9 to 11 a.m. Advance sign-ups must be made for specific times with the Adult Education office at 824-2780. The lab, located at the Ethel Bisbee School on Philbrook Street, is equipped with new IBM-compatible computers with a variety of popular software, a dot matrix printer, a laser printer and a CD-ROM drive.

Those interested in using the lab must have completed an introductory course or demonstrate a beginning level of familiarity with IBM machines.

There will be a lab monitor present, but the purpose of the open lab hours is to allow individuals time to work on their own. The charge for lab time will be $2 per hour. Disks and paper are available for purchase by lab-users.

Four week introductory courses for those who wish to become eligible to use the lab will be offered in July and August. The classes will meet on Thursday evenings from 7 to 9 p.m., starting on July 8 and August 5. The course fee is $15. A class in Keyboarding Using Computers will meet on Thursdays from 4:30 to 6:30 p.m. for six weeks, starting on July 8. The fee is $25. Classes in DOS and Word Perfect 5.1 will meet on Tuesdays for seven weeks starting July 6, with DOS from 7 to 9 p.m. and Word Perfect from 4:30 to 6:30 p.m. Course fees are $25. The Windows class has filled, but another section will be added if there is interest. Call Adult Education at 824-2780 to sign up.

ALBANY SCHOLARSHIPS--The Albany Congregational Church recently announced that Billie Jo Robinson, left, daughter of William and Yvonne Robinson, and Douglas Bennett, son of Richard and Kathleen Bennett, are this year's recipients of Albany Community Scholarships. Each received a $200 scholarship at Telstar High School's Award Night. The scholarships are presented annually to Albany Township seniors who are planning to further their education. Billie Jo plans to attend Notre Dame College in New Hampshire and major in psychology. Douglas will attend the University of Maine at Orono and major in secondary education.

This week's column is being written to officially recognize and congratulate all the winners in our recent field day events. I will submit one more column after our annual Awards assembly which is held during the last week of school.

This week I also want to tell about one or two end of the year activities going on in each class. The kindergarten class has conquered the alphabet and have made alphabet soup, sandwiches, and placemats. They have been reading alphabet stories.

The first-graders have finished their birdhouses which they made for Father's Day. They sent thanks to Mr. Loper for helping them. Both classes are looking forward to their final field trip to the Gray Animal Farm.

The second grade went recently and had a fantastic day.

The third-graders undertook their final field trip this past week. They went on a mining adventure in Greenwood to culminate their study of rocks and minerals. Several parents chaperoned which added to the safety and enjoyment of the trip. Thanks to all of you.

The fourth-graders are learning about idioms and drawing pictures to illustrate them.

My fifth-graders are bringing in a favorite children's book from their past to share with the class. Terry Weston, Halyne Graiver and Heather Theofrastou were the lucky recipients of our surviving chameleons. The sixth-graders planned and carried out a Healthy Luncheon Buffet as a part of their health related studies. They are also looking forward to their step-up day at the junior high school.

However, the major excitement this past week was our field day. On Tuesday, grades four, five and six went to Hebron Academy to use their track and field area. We are grateful to the academy for allowing us visits each year. Several activities go on simultaneously and all children participate in many of the events.

When we return to West Paris, awards are drawn up and presented before heading home for the day. This year's events and winners were: 50 yard dash: first place Johanna Farrar, second Alicia Smith, and a tie for third Lauren Dembski and Kris Pearson. 100 yard dash: Johanna Farrar, Kris Pearson, and Alicia Smith. 220 yard run: Johanna Farrar, Alicia Smith and Bryan Martin. 440 yard run: Kris Pearson, James Bradeen and Eric Smith. 880 yard run (twice around the track): James Bradeen, Aaron Brough, and Kylie Daniels. Mr. Koch awarded white ribbons also to any student who stuck with the race and finished: Tobey Shattenberg and Vanessa Pawlowski. Congratulations all.

All grades are represented in the above list. A fairly predictable race, the class relay competition, turned out as usual. The sixth-graders placed first thanks to Alicia Smith, James Bradeen, Johanna Farrar, and Eric Smith. The fifth-graders weren't far behind with Walter Inman, Amy Mahaney, Jessica Farrar and Bryan Martin. The fourth-graders were hot on our heels with Jeremy Beane, Jaymie Farrar, David Hemphill and Lauren Dembski.

Other popular events and winners included the sack race. Fourth-grade winners were Jeremy Beane, Lauren Dembski, and a three-way tie for third: Jaymie Farrar, Shannon Mahaney and David Hemphill. The fifth-graders were: Nathan Hutchins, Joel Martino and Matthew Blake. The sixth-graders finished with Kris Pearson, Nicholas Theofrastou, Johanna Farrar and Buddy West. The ever popular three-legged race also was completed by grade levels. Grade four winning combinations were Jaymie Farrar and Amanda Brulotte, Juanita Toothaker and Tasha Cummings, Abby Inman and Vanessa Pawlowski. The fifth-graders pulled in some sixth-grade ringers, and the winners were Brandi West and Holly Graiver, Ian McLean and Matthew Blake, Walter Inman and Bryan Martin. The sixth-grade champs were Johanna Farrar and Melissa Skinner, Justin Bonney and Kris Pearson, Eric Smith and James Bradeen.

The softball throw found the winners all within a very close range: Buddy West, Erik Mahaney and Joel Martino. The frisbee throw was taken by Derick Emery, Eric Mahaney and Buddy West. The running long jump was won by Johanna Farrar, Eric Smith and Melissa Skinner. The standing broad jump winners were Kris Pearson, Eric Smith, Lynda Farrar and Buddy West.

Meanwhile, back in West Paris, the second- and third-graders were having their own picnic lunch and field day. The two grades combined into four teams. They participated in a variety of games and races all afternoon. Scores were kept and the final tally announced the winners. Team D, the Green team, came in first place. They were Jason Emery, Billy Kangas, Josie Jewell, Jessica Duplisea, Elicia Brackett, Erik Poland, Nicole Farnum, Ian Ilsley and Sarah Beebe. Team C, the Black team placed second. Devin Coffin, Justin Jones, Bobby Pilgrim, Courtney Emens, Jamie Foster, Sabrina Martin, Travis Stearns, Raymond MacGregor, Dani Farrar and Jeremy Wilcox. Team B, the Purple team, came in third. Benjamin Blake, Randy Johnson, Timothy Newell, Krystal Farris, Kathleen Robertson, Ryan Dillingham, Leslie O'Kane, Mark Dunn and Ashlee Sessions.

Last, but not least, was Team A, the Orange team. Ryan Beebe, Joey Hakala, Jonathan Stevens, Chris Stoehner, Danielle Knight, David Abbott, Catherine Richards, James Blake and Naomi Giles. They all did a super job and were having so much fun that the older students joined in when they returned from Hebron.

The water balloon activity on such a hot day proved most popular with all ages. Congratulations to all participants.

Health care options discussed

By JOHN VINCENT

About 20 people discussed the high cost of health care and how universal health care might be able to solve the problem at the West Parish Congregational Church Thursday night.

"I don't think anybody here, anybody in Maine, and myself included, doesn't feel that we've got to do something about health care, not only in Maine, but nationwide," said Rep. Al Barth, R-Bethel.

Barth was one of four who spoke on health care before answering questions from the crowd.

One man asked Barth why the state was taking on the problem, with discussions of its own universal health care bill, when the problem is already being discussed in Washington, D.C.

"Your guess is as good as mine," Barth said jokingly.

"My basic feeling is we all have to play a part ... and it's up to the government to make sure health care is adequate," he said.

Discussion ranged from ways to implement universal health care to complaints about the current health care system.

Maria Termini spoke in favor of a universal health care plan, saying it would save money by eliminating all the red tape involved in insurance companies, because everyone would pay the same company.

She also said it would be good because all people would be covered.

While Barth suggested letting the insurance companies that exist now become the new collection agency because they're experienced at it already, others disagreed.

"I don't want to see the single payer become the state, I don't want to build a bureaucracy," Barth said.

Jeanne Davis of the United Church of Christ said she was using 1987 statistics, but at that time the U.S. government used six cents of every dollar spent on government health care programs in paperwork and administration, while insurance companies spent 16 cents of every dollar on paperwork.

"The U.S. provides better health care per dollar than the insurance companies," Davis said.

George Larson of the Bethel Area Health Center said his facility does already provide free or discounted care for people who can't afford it.

Rockie Graham said something needs to be done about that system, though, because people without jobs can get free care, but those with a low-paying job can't.

"It doesn't make sense," Graham said.

One woman asked if the free care continues if a person has a long-term illness such as leukemia.

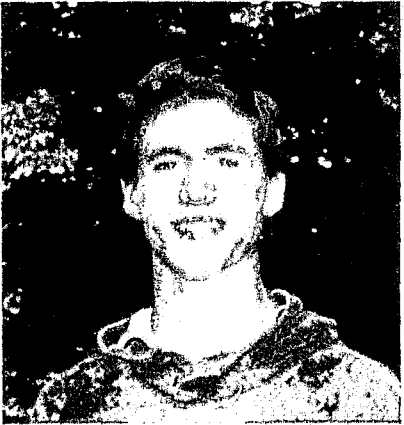

Larson said he did not know about leukemia, but he has treated some AIDS patients who could not afford the cost.

He said there are some larger hospitals that are also obliged to pay for people who can't, and they might take the person who had leukemia.

Barth said when he worked at Stephens Memorial Hospital in Norway three years ago, 28 cents of every dollar of every bill was figured in as an extra cost to pay for those that could not afford to pay.

"It's called cost shifting. It happens in every non-profit hospital across the country," he said.

Termini noted the bill in the state Legislature was tabled recently, and will be taken up again in January.

JOSHUA FOGG WINS SCIENCE AWARD

Joshua Fogg of Locke Mills was named winner of the annual Bausch & Lomb Science Award on June 16 at the Academic Awards at Telstar High School.

Science teacher Timothy Kersey, who presented the bronze medal, said that "The Bausch & Lomb Science Award is especially significant because it recognizes the junior student at our school who has attained the highest scholastic standing in science subjects."

As winner of the award, Josh is eligible to apply to become a University of Rochester Bausch & Lomb Scholar. This designation carries with it scholarship funds, the minimum amount being $5,000 per year for four years.

The Andover Water District Will hold a public hearing on Thursday, July 1, at 7 p.m. at the town hall. The district officers will review the proposed improvement program in detail.

The library will exhibit a collection of old dolls during their open house held on Old Home Day. Anyone who would like to loan a doll to be displayed should call Carol at 392-4841 during the library hours. The dolls should be at least 25 years old.

Fourteen members of the East Andover Community Club met on June 14 with Dolly Jones with Marge Stinson co-hostess. President Barbara Meisner opened the meeting with a poem, "Love." Evelyn Bell read the secretary's minutes in the absence of secretary Dotti Arsenault. Get well, sympathy and birthday cards had been sent, plus 15 graduation cards. Treasurer Violet Swain reported that Andover Telstar senior Suzann Richardson had received the club's award of $50, a sunshine fruit plate had been sent to Charlotte Bennett. Violet Swain had received a sunshine box at the May meeting. Voted to give $50 toward Andover children going to Pilgrim Lodge from the First congregational Church, three have signed up to attend for one week, voted a calendar donation to the Andover Service Circle. One club member has been added to our "70 and Over" list, another member two; be added in August. A delicious luncheon was served. Mystery Sister gifts were exchanged. There will be no meeting in July. The Aug. 9 meeting will be a picnic at the Swain cottage at Roxbury Pond.

Get well wishes to Mr. Ray Learned, a patient at Stephens Memorial Hospital in Norway.

At the June meeting of the Historical Society, curator Larry Billings presented "A Short History of Drama." He also read passages from Shakespeare and gave definitions of tragedy and comedy. The finance committee brought in mugs to sell. Nita Allen gave a picture and biography of Isabel England Russell. Francis Brooks and Ray Burnham watched the museum in the afternoon. Ruth Cox and Annella Burnham provided refreshments in the evening. Don't forget to visit the historical museum on Saturday afternoons this summer. The Historical Society contributes much to the community and tries to record its history. Eugene Weber once wrote "Great events are the poetry of fate." At the July meeting a video will be shown of the history of the Baptist Church.

The Woodstock alumni met for its annual banquet on Saturday night at Telstar High's cafeteria with 108 alumni and guests. There were nine 60 year alumni and seven 50 year alumni. Verna Swan was noted as retiring from treasurer. Mina Morgan is now treasurer and Peggy Blake is vice president. They voted to hold next years banquet at Telstar High. Scholarships were presented to Stacy House the only senior attending and Douglas Bennett and Danielle Bernier.

Judith Grover tent #17 met on Monday for a regular meeting. Final plans were made for Convention. Fourteen plan to attend the granddaughters breakfast. Convention will be held in Waterville on June 24 and 25. Memorial Day bills were read. Sick members were reported on. A reading "Perfect Bliss" was read by Kathleen McAllister. Next meeting will be July 13 with a tasting party. Twelve members were present.

The Woodstock Senior Citizens will meet on Thursday, July 1 at the Bryant Pond Grange Hall. Dinner will be put on by the Grange. Stuart Martin will speak on auctions.

The Woodstock Extension met on Wednesday at Barbara Hathaways cottage. They planned the meetings for the next year. Twelve members were present.

Maggie and Joseph Hoyt have been visiting their father, James Hoyt this past week.

Mr. and Mrs. Bill Wight celebrated their 50th wedding anniversary with a family gathering at the Balsams Hotel on Memorial Day. Attending were: Gretchen and Melissa Strous (their daughter and granddaughter). Also David and Jan Wight, Steve and Marlene Wight, of Old Town, Sue and Owen Wight of North Newry, Malcolm and Alda Bennett of Errol, Arthur and Viola Johnson of Mercer, and friends Archie and Sis Post of Bethel.

The Newry Mothers Club held their annual banquet on Monday night at the Town and Country Inn with 11 members and two guests, Polly Mahoney and Bonnie Learned.

A gentle reminder from Sec. of the Recreation committee, Nancy Babcock: Friday, June 25 is the deadline for Newry students 18 and under to apply for the $50 award to attend summer camps. A one page essay on "Why I want to go to (whichever) camp," should be submitted to the Newry Town Office or a recreation committee member by June 25. Students accepting awards must agree to perform one day of community service, (13 to 18 year olds only.)

The fourth annual Newry Community Day will be held on Sunday, June 27 at the Newry Town Building. There will be family softball and other games for the children. Hot dogs, hamburgers and lemonade will be provided. Please bring salads or desserts to share. Everyone invited and welcomed. It starts at noon. See you there...

Sylvia and Bill Wight attended the International Congress of Snowmobiling in Dartmouth, Nova Scotia last week.

The "Newry Bowling Gang" members who were at the Oxford Lanes Rumford were: Karlene Bachelder, Gil Seeley, Louise Tetley, Bea Lowell and Doris Parent. Of the "lefties" Karlene was high on the triples and singles. Of the "righties" Doris was high on the triples and the singles. Karlene had four spares and two strikes. Gil had two spares and one strike. Doris had three spares and Bea three spares. All went to lunch and did some shopping.

Norman Tetley and his brother, Donald came and put up a new mailbox post at my place one day last week. Good neighbors are still around...Thank you. Donald and his wife are here from Rhode Island visiting the Tetleys.

Phyl Green and his wife, Mary stopped to say hello to me last week while on their way back home in Rhode Island from touring around Maine. I hadn't seen them for quite a few years.

"Cheers to the guy who chased a moose down the road." Shame on you.

Et-cet-er-a...Karlene Bachelder and yours truly went to Portland last Wednesday. At the Maine Turnpike booth, an 80 year old man took our money, and bragged about being 80. Karlene pointed to me and said "She is going on 86." He replied "Just my size." Karlene told him she would drop me off at his booth on the way back...

Gordon and Sally Doughty and Kathleen Robertson spent the weekend with daughter, Cheryl and Drew Shall, Kirby and Caroline in Cranbury, N.J.

William and Ginny Aridas of Holbrook, N.Y. returned home on Monday after spending the weekend with her parents, Vernon and Miriam Inman.

Charles and Vicky Sanborn, Brant and Caroline from North Conway were here on Sunday also. As well as Marshall Inman and Tony and Walter, Kim, Vernie and Waltie Inman. We all enjoyed having a cookout.

On Sunday afternoon Travis Stearns, Raymond MacGregor, Vernon and Walter Inman played in an All-Star baseball game in Minot. Their team did lose 13-14. A good game.

Ann Proctor has returned home from the hospital. Daughter, Donna McElville from Woodland is spending some time here with them.

Forward Fellowship will meet on Monday, June 28 at Beryl Bonney's camp for a 6:30 p.m. "bag" supper. Bring your own picnic. Pokeno will be played after the meeting.

The Ladies' Aid held a bead class Wednesday evening at the building. Next week, Wednesday, Mary Learned of Andover will discuss quilt making and sign up interested students.

Moose are a hazard in this area, but moose watchers are also dangerous. We were following a cement truck when it suddenly swerved around a car which was stopped in its tracks rather than pulling over. As we followed the truck we met a car and had there been another vehicle behind us, there could easily have been a collision. The moose was well away from the roadside in a bog.

Wanda Hutchinson, Donald and Ray, Laurie Brown and Ben went to Storyland on Thursday.

By RUSSELL YATES

This is a beautiful morning for Flag Day and I should be out transplanting broccoli and cauliflower plants into my garden, but they'll have to wait until I get this news ready to go to the Citizen. A week ago today, I had a job to do that I don't like, but had to get up and patch a crack in my roof where the front addition joins onto the side of the mobile home. The old goop had come loose and it was leaking badly before I fixed it, but it seems okay now.

There will be a dance with the Richard Felt Orchestra furnishing the music at Locke Mills Town Hall on June 26.

There will also be a Degree Day at Oxford Grange Hall on June 26 for the working of the first and second degrees in the forenoon, and the third and fourth degrees in the afternoon. There will be a paid lunch about noontime.

To all Granges—if you have candidates waiting to receive these degrees, this is a good time to have it done. Just bring the candidate and application if the home Grange has approved the joining of the candidate.

Oxford Pomona Grange 2 will be meeting at Alder River Grange in East Bethel on June 22 for election of officers. I hope all of you good Pomona members will be present and will be delighted to accept if your name is suggested as an officer. We need some delightful person as our chaplain, so do come.

Last Monday, Mary Lovjoy went along to help chaperone the pupils from the second grade on a trip to Gray. She reports that she had as good a time as the kids did.

Tuesday, Kathleen Holden and Mary Lovjoy toured the flower garden at McLaughlin's on Western Avenue here in South Paris. Mary reports that it is time well spent and that visitors are welcome. Mary reported it to be a real sweet smelling place, as they have many different varieties of lilacs as well as lots of other shrubbery and flowers. The owners wish that more local people would visit their gardens. They say that many out-of-state people visit their gardens but very few local people. So let's pay them a visit. I had heard about the place but had never been there. Now I shall make it my way to visit them.

Saturday afternoon, David Small from Kennebunkport visited the Lovjoys and had supper with them.

Sunday, Impi and Raymond Mack attended Hartford Heritage Day Parade.

By FLORENCE HALL

Nancy Fox, Bethel, Lisa York, South Paris and Anne Fox had lunch in the screen house at the Manor on Sunday.

Florence Hall attended the wedding of Deanna Hutchins and Bruce Fowles at the Congregational Church on June 12. Deanna is Gertrude Hutchins' granddaughter.

Louise Powell, Hale and Bernice Wing, Dixfield visited Alma Hewey on Tuesday.

Keith Hall, Frankfort and Duane Damon, Winterport attended the Andover Alumni Association Banquet June 5 and called on Aunt Florence Hall.

Jane Rich called on Florence Hall. Florence called on Arvilla Feener on Sunday.

Stacy Thompson had lunch with Aunt Florence on Friday.

Mrs. Arlene Williams of Avon, N.C. and Mrs. Patricia Bartholomew of Denver, Colo. are guests this week of Mrs. Hilda Donahue and Howard.

Llona K. Meaux returned to Greenville, S.C. on last Wednesday after a visit with her family. Mr. and Mrs. Earlon Keniston, as well as Mrs. Earlon Keniston, she joined her family to attend the wedding of Timothy and Corey Lapham at the No. Norway Church. She, also, enjoyed a few days visit with her aunts, Marion Arsenault and Muriel Kimball and her many cousins in the Norway area.

By NANCY MERCER

Alder River Grange 145 will hold a regular meeting at the Hall on June 25 at 7:30 p.m.

East Bethel Church will hold a candlelight service on July 11 at 7 p.m. The Rev. Norman Rust will lead the service.

Other services will be held on July 25 and Aug. 1 and 29.

Visitors at Mr. and Mrs. Andre Bernier's for Danielle Bernier's graduation from Telstar High School were: Geneva Pelletier of Manchester, N.H.; Arline Bernier of Upton; Lou and Ellen Bernier of North Waterford; Joe and Penny Bernier with children Neil and Jenny of Lovell; Philip and Juanita Korhonen of Mason Township;

BETHEL PLAYGROUND COMMITTEE IS HALF-WAY THERE—Marc Baker of Newry accepts a $500 check from Linda Varrell of the Bethel Savings bank toward construction of a toddler's playground at Davis Park in Bethel. Baker said the committee has collected almost $10,000 of its $20,000 goal.

Melanie Farmer and friend from Augusta; Kris and Brenda Bailey and daughter Jennie of Andover.

Ryan Bernier is now in Italy. His address is: 5 ATAF, DF, CMR427, GD-B, APO AE 09630.

Mr. and Mrs. Allan Howe were in Severn, Md., on June 10 to 13 to help Greg and Sandy Howe celebrate their 25th wedding anniversary.

Melvin Olson saw a cow moose and baby near Clayton Bartlett's farm, formerly Farwell's place, recently.

Barbara Honkala and Millie Jackson were in Weld at the Historical Society to learn how to preserve antique fabric. It was a workshop sponsored by the Maine Historic Museum. Barbara and Millie represented the Bethel Historical Society. There were 17 people present from all over Maine.

Mr. and Mrs. Warren Wilkes of Cumberland, Helen Secord of Milford, Mass., Joan Lovatt of East Sandwich, Mass., and Fortin and Shirley Secord Powell of Rockland were visitors at the Bartlett Homestead recently.

West Bethel

By CONSTANCE BROADBENT

Dear Margaret Ann,

Yesterday I noticed the daisies in bloom...their blossoms sprinkled all over our hillside. Today I sprinkled lady bugs all over the lupine, their hungry mouths ready for aphid attack. The daisies and the ladybugs both reminded me of you, oh great 'Soror the Elder'. You will always so gardens on the property. This year, I'm talking many, many lupine...they've seeded themselves far and wide, actually filling one garden by the back steps, where last year I had planted just three seedlings! The irony of this event is that as a gardener in my other life, I could never get the lupine to succeed, and was always fit to be tied when I'd see them spilling out of every field along the road to Maine!

Now you ask, did the reds eat the whites? I checked yesterday and again today; the population of little white stem suckers is almost eradicated! I am amazed! And the first application used only about half of the supply of five thousand. So, as recommended, I'll set free the remainder of the cold red army on the tall green plants one fine cool morning soon, and let them have at it with those who survived the first attack. What I don't get is where the ladybugs go when they're full. You'd think that after releasing so many of them, a few would be crawling up the walk to say 'thank you'. But no. They're out of sight for the most part. An occasional one or two shows her spots while clutching a leaf...but there are now thousands in residence and all are keeping a very low profile.

Back to the part about...it reminded me of you. The ladybugs took up residence in the fridge on the shelf below the jam, and sitting across from them, on a shelf in the door, is the box of worms that Christopher Robbins left behind. He and his parents, Tracey and Dave, and his sister Jen (a chip off my old catalpa tree), visited us, the surrogate grandparents, over the last holiday. Joan and Paul, the real grandparents, and our Tom and his Jayne rounded out the household. Some of us golfed; some biked; some shopped; but Chris and Uncle Don went fishing. And in preparation, they bought worms at Sandy's Kitchen...don't ask...

Christopher, at six, was about to welcome yet another new experience...and he approached the adventure with mixed emotion...anxious could once extract outlandish promises from an otherwise stable sister, who became hysterical when I approached her with a handful of better yet a canful of nightcrawlers...back when I was ten and she was twelve. That's our little secret, sister dear...

And thus it is that I'm reminded of you at the damndest times. First it was the worms, then the ladybugs. When I saw the box, I thought of the fun I could have if you should happen to drop in on your way to Manhattan, I ought to be able to extract double dues if I mixed them together...and then when you've been restored to health...you can pick daisies to your heart's content...if you get here in time.

Daisies and worms notwithstanding, it sounds as if we have news to share. You and Gerald are signed up for 'Homeownership Made Easy' as I hear through the imitable family grapevine. Your Jane and her beau are betrothed, yes? Our Tom and his Jayne are exploring the possibilities while contemplating the gravity...some heavy talks over at the juice bar!...Speaking of bar...kindly extend our good wishes to said Jane as she deigns to pass it...

Meanwhile, know that all is well in the foothills...our company of feathered friends increases in number and variety. This spring we've been honored with visits by orioles, bluebirds, indigo buntings, and rose-breasted grosbeaks. That wonder-to-behold was magnified by the fact that all the species came to the feeders on the same day! The subsequent visits reaffirmed our faith in to learn, but a bit hesitant to embark. I knew that he was feeling timorous when he tried to pry a worm from its bedding without actually touching it...the worm, that is...and so I made a real show of lifting a slippery fat fellow out of the box with my bare pincers and letting it curl up in my palm. It was my contribution to his education on the olio of roles for male and female alike. Of course, I didn't tell him that I was an old hand at worm gathering...or that I special feed and special feeders...And as the berries begin to ripen on the mountain ash and the choke cherry trees, we watch for the first signs of the return of the cedar waxwing...that crested curiosity with its subtle reds and yellows, and Long Ranger mask that first piqued my curiosity...Now to round out the 'go around, come around' theme, it was your connection with Houghton Mifflin that caused you to respond to my new interest, in 1959!...and to provide me with my first 'Peterson Guide'...the rest is 'ornithology'...pardon my lisp.

The folk fare well. They prepare for weddings and anniversaries; they plant their corn and their peas. The iris bloom now and the peonies are about to release their glorious scent. Thumbs are green once more; nails are ruined; pants have dirty knees. And get this...as I plunged the young vegetable plants into the good earth between the hollyhocks and the tall phlox, I smiled at one of the labels and thought again of our connectedness...I was planting Waltham Butternut Squash...developed at our very own field station in our very own place of birth!

It's the daisies and the hollyhocks, the iris and the lady's-slippers of our shared experience that keep us rooted and safe. I'll try to figure a way to send you a daisy plant for your new yard. And should you get a chance to tarry poolside before the broccoli gets too tall, you'll be in time for the shipment of 'beneficial nematodes'!... (ask Anne)...Meanwhile, pass along fond regards to Gerald and the girls and the boys, and above all, remember this...

"Blessed are the meek; for they shall inherit the worms!"

Love,

High on Noyes Mountain on June 13 we saw a view which we will never forget. Fran Piccirillo came to the farm and asked several of us to take a ride with him, his wife and daughter, up the old Bulldozer Road to the section where Buck's Camp, that was, is now in ruins.

We had to cross the farm fields to find the road. Yes, there are still places to go that are wild and beautiful. They are up there beyond the golden arches of motels and McDonald's, hidden away from the main highway. All you have to do is go and look.

The road by any means wasn't easy. There were mud holes and the word rough can hardly describe it. It was so rock-ribbed and precarious that at times I wondered how even oxen could have made it.

There were gaping stone walls, cellar holes and nearby the road there was a small graveyard, so grown with bushes now that if one didn't know one was there it would be passed by unseen. What a heartache to see, so forgotten and deserted in the forest.

The nearest cellar hole to it was the Garland Place. One of the Garlands, Hamlin, was an author born at LaCrosse, Wis., Sept. 16, 1860 and died in 1940. His family moved to Hesper, Iowa, a Quaker community from which fact many of his tales relate to prairie scenes. He studied at Cedar Valley Sem., Osage, Iowa, taught in the public schools of Illinois and Dakota, and in 1884 moved to Boston, where his literary career properly began. He wrote many books and "A Daughter of the Middle Border" brought him the Pulitzer Prize in 1922. Another book was entitled "Companions on the Trail." Several descendants of the Garlands were born in Greenwood.

When we came to the location of Buck's Camp, again I would say one had to know that the camp had once been there in order to find it. We stopped to ramble into the growth of trees and found a strange sight. There was nothing left but the ruins of the camp. But standing firm and beautiful above everything was the fireplace and chimney. It looked as lovely as the years when I first saw it so many years ago. What a shame that it stands there with its many memories of years long gone.

In one section we were surprised by a mother grouse and her tiny babies crossing the road. The mother grouse is famous for her trick of feigning a broken wing and flapping around, apparently helpless to divert attention from her chicks.

We passed the spring house and then on toward the mine. In one of the pits, made years ago, the roots of a great birch tree were still grasping the rocks. I'm not a "rock-hound" so I wasn't as interested as some by what was on the ground.

We had an interesting trip, viewing the trees, flowers, ferns and farm land.

The farmers loved their land then and now, which makes me recall this little story. A man from out-of-state came by speculating in land. He saw the farmer behind the barn so stopped to make a few friendly remarks. Then with a sweep of his hand at the hillside offered to buy $1,000 worth. "Ayuh," said the farmer, thoughtfully, then looked up with a mildly triumphant smile; "Go fetch your wheelbarrow and I'll fill it up for you."

Albert Curtis took his mother, Rena, to Brunswick where her sister's grave is, then to Stratton to decorate the grave of her mother and other relatives.

John and Dot Betts report a very pleasant trip to San Francisco.

David, Sally and Mary Holt were at the Holt Farm on Sunday. Ann and I joined them after going to church.

The Daughters of Union Veterans of the Civil War 1861-1865 Hannah F. Richardson Tent #19 met Wednesday, June 16 at the home of Leslie Dean with 11 members present. Before the meeting began a nice "retirement of flags" program was held with Boy Scouts Ryan and Andrew placing the flags on the disposal unit. A reading was done by Leslie and D.U.V. members sang patriotic songs appropriate for the occasion. Later, at the meeting three applications for membership were balloted on and approved. Discussion was made on the up-coming Maine Dept. Convention which is to be held at the Howard Johnson Motel in Waterville on June 24 and 25. It was moved and seconded to hold a 6 p.m. cookout on July 28 at the home of Helen Grover with a short meeting afterward. It was also moved and seconded to have the meetings start at 7 p.m. in the future. A nice snack of "sommores" and cold drinks was given to members by hostess, Leslie and the boys, which we all enjoyed. We were pleased to have one of our oldest members with us--Helen Grover, who is 95 and is the D.U.V. chaplain.

Congratulations are sent to Wanda (Jones) and Joe Ryerson of Oxford on the birth of a son, Zachary Joseph, at the Maine Medical Center. Wanda was our next door neighbor for many years and attended school with our children.

School is out now so I hope all drivers of cars and trucks will be watchful and careful of the young bicycle riders on the roads here on the country roads.

Geneva Tripp was treated to lunch one day this past week by her son, Craig Millett from Augusta in honor of her birthday this week.

Mr. and Mrs. Bob Santoro from Massachusetts called on Albert and Eleanor Nelson on Wednesday bringing some of his famous "Santoro Subs" to us which we just love. We were surprised and pleased to have such a nice visit with them. They have a summer home at Pleasant Mountain and while here he plans to do some golfing.

This week the "lemon lilies" are pretty out in the old flower garden. Every week and every day we see things to enjoy and be thankful for.

One day this past week while in North Conway shopping I was surprised and pleased to meet an old friend of ours. I don't mean old but we worked at B.E. Cole Co. office many years ago. It was Eunice Potts Berry of Casco. We had a nice chat before going on to our separate ways. On Monday, Bob and Frances Grant and myself called on our cousin, Wilma Taylor, in Center Lovell. We had a nice visit and lunch together. Mrs. Stella Johnson has returned to her home in Maryland after visiting her sister and husband, Dr. and Mrs. Ralph Brown for several weeks.

ANXIETY: A condition that often can be controlled

I often feel shaky and light-headed before speaking before a group of people or talking to my boss about a raise. Is this what's known as anxiety? What should I be doing to prevent it? Should I be taking tranquilizers?

The conditions you describe are classic symptoms of anxiety, which everyone experiences at one time or another. While anxiety is a frustrating reaction to situations, it is one that often can be tempered by taking some basic steps. In many cases, tranquilizers are not needed to control the condition.

Anxiety often develops when a person is worried about something or under some kind of pressure. It's hard not to worry about people who are important to us, or to feel apprehensive about an upcoming engagement, especially when the spotlight is on you. In fact, anxiety can be of benefit in these situations; it adds the extra stimulus to take useful action and to perform better. However, too much anxiety often restricts or interferes with daily functioning.

While the causes of anxiety are numerous, the symptoms are well defined. They include a fast or pounding heartbeat, trembling, dry mouth, sweating, difficulty in breathing, dizziness, nausea, sweaty palms, loss of appetite, fatigue and loss of sexual interest.

Although anxiety is often caused by fear and apprehension brought on by stressful situations, there are organic causes of anxiety too, and some of these can be eliminated by making a few changes in your lifestyle. Caffeine, for example, is a major cause of organically derived

INSIDE VIEW--Leon Favreau, owner of Bethel Furniture Stock, shows a double-bent chair back to members of the Small Woodland Owners Association of Maine. Favreau hosted the monthly SWOAM meeting Saturday at the West Bethel mill. He demonstrated the various manufacturing processes, and said there are still opportunities for flexible, well-managed woods products businesses. "But it's a gamble," he said, especially with pressures from environmentalists to shut off the supply of raw material. (Photo by Michael Daniels)

FROM THE

Bethel Area Chamber of Commerce

Community support of the upcoming Bethel Art Fair, to be held on Saturday, June 26 on the Bethel Common, has been great. Chairpeople Rene and Chad McGrew as well as committee members Nina Reich, Gail Giarusso and Tom McGinniss are planning to have this be the best show yet.

Thirty-six artists from all over New England have registered already to display and sell their work. Many thanks to the following contributors who have made donations to ensure the show's success: The Bethel Citizen, The Bethel Inn, Key Bank of Maine, Powder Ridge, Chapman Inn, The Merrill Co., Dana and Barbara Douglass, River View Motel, Romeo and Jo Baker, Austin Associates, Sawyer Appraisal, Bonnema Potters, Maine Line Products, Kendall Insurance, Attorney Daniel Reich, Telstar Video, Bethel Chiropractic, Bethel Frame Shop, Kennett Realty, Mahoosuc Realty, Sudbury Inn, Bethel Auto Sales, Littlefield Beaches, Unicorn Flower Shop and Garden Center, Sunday River Inn, Maine Street Realty, Gaudreau's Repair and Hometown Bakery.

Raffle tickets are being sold for a beautiful work of art donated by Gail Giarusso and framed by the Bethel Frame Shop. Tickets are $1 each and six for $5 and they are available at the Chamber office, the Bethel Frame Shop and from Board members. The drawing will be held at 3:30 p.m., the day of the Art Fair and you do not need to be present to win. Refreshments will be sold on the Common by the Bethel Rotary Club and the area churches. Come enjoy this wonderful celebration of art.

The Chamber staff said goodbye to administrative assistant Amy Chapman who has been working as part of the team for one and one half years. We wish Amy well. Replacing Amy is Tricia Coffin of West Paris. Come by and meet her. The Chamber staff also celebrated a one semester experience with Sheila Morin, a recent graduate of Telstar High School. Sheila spent 20 hours a week this winter and spring helping the staff as a work-study experience.

All chamber members are invited to come to the General Membership Meeting and Social to be held on Sunday evening, June 27, from 6:30-9 p.m. at the NTL Conference House on Broad Street.

Anyone wishing to place an ad in either Maine Guide to Winter or New England Skiers Guide must contact the chamber office by Thursday, June 24, in order to be included.

Local Legion team starts with a split

By STEVE SHERLOCK

Locke Mills, the Jackson-Silver Post's first-year entry in American Legion baseball, showed Saturday afternoon that it will not be satisfied merely by playing the traditional role of an expansion team this summer.

Growing in confidence after a 4-3 loss in the opener against a perennial participant in the state tournament, Locke Mills stunned Lewiston Post 22 in the nightcap with an 11-10 victory and earned a split of their double-header at Pettengill Park.

In the second game, Locke Mills (1-2) withstood a furious Lewiston comeback. Post 22 scored three runs in the ninth inning and left the bases loaded when Bob Langlois was forced at second base on a close call for the final out.

The win was the first in American Legion action for Locke Mills, whose roster includes players from Telstar High School and Gould Academy and a couple of players from Oxford Hills High School who did not make the Oxford Hills Legion team.

Those players who were cut, including Charlie Grover, Justin Wormell and Scott Howe, have made Locke Mills a much stronger ballclub. Grover, for example, had three hits, scored three runs and had two RBI in the doubleheader.

"This is great," said Locke Mills coach Les Otten. "(Lewiston) is supposed to be one of the top teams. However you look at it, we gave them two pretty good games." Lewiston lost this summer for the first time in four games. The loss to Locke Mills could prove costly by the end of the season.

Lewiston is expected to battle Cumberland, Mid Coast and New Auburn for top honors in American Legion Zone III. Only the top two teams qualify for the state tournament.

Locke Mills took advantage of several Lewiston miscues—errors, poor baserunning and mental lapses—as many of Post 22's problems were self-inflicted.

"A lot of mental mistakes," said Lewiston coach John Peterson. "We have to get back to doing the fundamental things."

The doubleheader started as though Lewiston would run Locke Mills back to the state's western mountains. The hosts scored three runs before recording its first out. Todd Beaulieu led off with a walk and Scott Welch followed with a single. After the two runners moved up with a double steal, Rob Pelletier hit a ground ball to Grover at third. His throw home, though, struck Beaulieu in the back for the first run. Landry followed with an RBI single, and a throwing error on the play allowed Pelletier to score the third run of the inning.

With Locke Mills committing five errors in the first three innings, Lewiston opened a 4-1 lead and appeared poised for more damage when Peter Landry led off the third inning with a double and Langlois reached on an error to put runners on second and third with no outs. But instead of giving more runs to the hosts, Locke Mills pitcher Tim Remington struck out the next three batters to escape the threat unscathed.

Schedule

Locke Mills plays at home (Gould Academy) today, Wednesday against Folsom. Its schedule for the remainder of the season is: June 24 Locke Mills at Sylvania (Buxton); June 26, New Auburn at Locke Mills (2); June 29, Locke Mills at Mid Coast (Topsham); July 1, Biddeford at Locke Mills; July 3 Locke Mills at Rumford (2); July 6 Cumberland at Locke Mills; July 8 Locke Mills at S. Portland; July 10 Jay at Locke Mills (2); July 12 Locke Mills at Memorial (Westbrook); July 13, Lewiston at Locke Mills; July 15, Grondin (Scarborough) at Locke Mills; July 17 Locke Mills at Oxford Hills (2); July 20, Locke Mills at New Auburn; July 22, Locke Mills at Andrews (Deering); July 24, Mid Coast at Locke Mills (2); July 27 Rumford at Locke Mills; July 29 Nova (Portland) at Locke Mills; July 31, Locke Mills at Cumberland (2).

Weekday games are seven innings, starting at 6 p.m. Weekend games are nine innings starting at 1 p.m. Games postponed due to rain will be rescheduled by coaches of teams involved.

The Bethel Library

"Celebrate the Library" Week was a big success, June 14-18.

One of the highlights of the week's special events was the volunteer reception. About two dozen trustees and Book Selection Committee members were honored, and Trustees Emeriti Louise Lincoln, Edmond Vachon, and Madeline Gibbs were presented with roses for their dedication and service to the library. Nancy Hansen, trustee and Book Selection Committee member, added some excitement to the evening by presenting an original "open" sign of her own creation.

Over 50 children celebrated Peter Rabbit's 100th birthday on Thursday, June 17. The children enjoyed stories, games, and a Peter Rabbit cake made by Persis Post.

On Friday the library was full to capacity as schoolchildren came to check out books for the Summer

Reading Program and claim their bookbags.

The summer activities are now underway. The next few events: Beth Hitchcock, storyteller, June 22 and 29 (the date has been changed from July 6) from 2-3 and Goat Day on June 28 from 10-11. Come to the library for a list of all summer activities and a form for the Summer Reading Program.

More than 200 people attended Saturday's third annual Telstar Middle School Drug Awareness Resistance Education graduation.

The 69 sixth-grade DARE grads received their diplomas and a brightly colored pink and purple DARE T-shirts from DARE officer Darren Tripp of the Bethel Police Department.

Guest speaker Rodney Abbott told DARE graduates that there are 3 million teen alcoholics in the U.S., that western Maine has the

"These statistics provide good reasons for you to be here today, a good reason for Officer Darren Tripp to teach DARE lessons and good reasons for us to do all we can to reverse these figures," Abbott said.

A few sixth-graders also read their personal commitments to not use drugs.

"I will think of the consequences first," Eva Taylor said. "I have lots of choices in life and I don't want to spend my time on drugs."

"I want to have a good life, a family and a good paying job," read Phoebe Brown. "I promise myself that I will not let drug use interfere with my life or the life of my future family."

This year's Telstar DARE graduates are:

Amanda E. Annis, Danielle L. Appleby, Stacy L. Bachelder, Mandy L. Berry, Heather T. Best, Mariah J. Boelsma, Lionel A. Boynton, Christopher L. Brooks, Jeffrey J. Brough, Phoebe D. Brown, Angela M. APPRECIATION DINNER FOR ARLAN JODREY

There will be an appreciation dinner for Arlan Jodrey for his many years of service for the citizens of Bethel on Tuesday, June 29, 6 p.m. at the Moses Mason Meeting Room, corner of Broad and Mason Streets. Dinner will be potluck. Those who plan to attend are asked to call the Town Office (824-2669) to indicate what food items they will be bringing (hot dish, salad, breads, or dessert).

YOU CAN READ, AND HAVE YOUR CAKE TOO-Josie Reiss of Woodstock licks every last crumb of her piece of Peter Rabbit's birthday cake Thursday morning at the Bethel Library's celebration of the here's 100th birthday. The party was part of Celebrate the Library Week activities at the Bethel Library. Meanwhile, across the street on the Bethel Common, third-graders from the Crescent Park School were picnicking and frolicking in celebration of the last day of school. CPS students left classes two days early to make way for asbestos removal. The last day of school for the rest of the district was Monday.

Day camp scholarships

An anonymous Bethel resident has donated two scholarships for the second session of Sunday Ski Resort's summer day camp program. The scholarships, which have been matched by two additional scholarships donated by the ski area, are for children ages 5 to 15. The second session of the camp will run from July 23 to August 20. Activities to be offered include Red Cross swimming instruction, games, hiking, arts and crafts, photography and video production. All activities are based at Sunday River's Snow Cap ski dorm. A Sunday River Trolley will pick campers up beginning at 8:45 daily at the Bethel common, Telstar High School and Crescent Park School. The return to town starts at 4 p.m. The openings made available by the scholarships are being offered to area children on the basis of need. For the children to be eligible, parents or guardians are asked to submit a statement (not longer than one page) explaining why the child would benefit from the program. The statements will be evaluated (on the basis of need, not literary merit) by the donor, as well as by Bethel Town Clerk Merton Brown and Camp Director Jeff Frost. For more information, contact Frost at 824-3000. Sunday River is also encouraging other residents to donate camp scholarships. The cost for a four-week session is $149 for each child enrolled.

KENDALL CHAIRS BETHEL SAVINGS BANK BOARD--James Delamater, left, CEO and president of Bethel Bancorp, announced last week that Ronald Kendall of Bethel has been elected to serve as chairman of the board. Kendall succeeds Jack Trinward, who will remain as a director on the board and also as the chairman of the Bethel Bancorp. Kendall is the owner and president of the Kendall Insurance Agency in Bethel and co-owner of Harrison Insurance Agency in Harrison. He has been a director of Bethel Savings Bank, FSB, Board since 1977 and has also served on the Bancorp board as a director since its establishment in 1987. Kendall is also a trustee of the Bethel Library Association, an Explorations director, a member of the Bethel Airport Advisory Committee and a member of the West Parish Community Church, where he has also served as a trustee.

Rotary Club notes:

The Tuesday, June 8 breakfast meeting was the monthly club assembly, where club business is discussed and celebrated. Terry Elmore did a reading out of the Rotarian magazine on the life of Dr. Sabin, a Rotarian who devoted a lot of his life to Rotary's mission of eradicating polio from the world. President Jeff Parsons recognized member Rick Flint, who by now has left the area to work in Utah. Rick will be missed, as he has contributed time and talent to the club during his membership. Guests of the morning were Phil Ray, Auburn; Lennie Shaw, Gorham; Cynthia Moran-Laux and Mike Hart, Portsmouth; Bill Newell and David Whittier, Oxford Hills; and Hilary Harrison and Kevin Zinchuk, Bethel. At the June 15 breakfast meeting special guests Hilary Harrison and Bonnie Crocker shared a little of their Gould Academy sponsored Dominican Republic trip. President Jeff Parsons read thank you notes from the Odyssey of the Mind team and the Community chemical Awareness Team. Guests for the morning were Mike Hart of Portsmouth; Don Shorn of Pittsburg; Bruce Barth of Seattle; and Josh Fogg a Telstar High School junior. The club welcomed back Stuart Crocker.

KILGORE CHURCH SERVICE AT MEETING HOUSE

Members of the Kilgore family attending a family reunion at the Bethel Inn this weekend will hold a church service Sunday at 10:30 a.m. at the Middle Intervale Meeting House. Dr. Stanley Russell Howe, Director of the Bethel Historical Society, will deliver a presentation on the history of Middle Intervale. The public is invited to attend. Rodney Hanscom, pastor of the Newry Community Church, will perform the service.

Dean's list

At Saint Michael's College: Amy F. Ford, daughter of Thomas and Wendy Ford of Bethel, who is studying senior drama major. At Johnson & Wales University: Kimberly York of Bryant Pond, who is majoring in food marketing.

MUNDT-ALLEN POST #81

Mundt-Allen Post #81 will be cleaning out the "shed" at the Legion Hall on Sunday, June 27, anytime after 9 a.m. Members will have their pick of stuff that otherwise will be traveling to parts unknown.

Obituaries

R. GLENN MURPHY

R. Glenn "Pat" Murphy, died Friday morning, June 18, 1993, at his home in Bethel. He was born in Rangeley Aug. 6, 1906, a son of Charles C. and Louvie Packard Murphy, and had been a resident of Bethel for nearly half a century.

Mr. Murphy graduated from Rangeley High School in 1923 and later attended Noonan's Barber School in Boston, as well as various law enforcement schools. He was the first licensed inland marine captain and the second licensed engineer for inland marine water craft in the State of Maine. Mr. Murphy was employed by the Brown Company for a number of years as a captain on their log-barge boats, and also as a merchant marine sailing to South America in the early 1930s. For many years, he ran barber shops in Rangeley, Stratton and Bethel and Gorham, N.H. Mr. Murphy was a member of the Church of Nazarene of Bethel and a member and past president of Bethel Lion's Club.

Mr. Murphy is survived by his wife of 67 years, Ersel (Williams) Murphy; four daughters, Joyce Stearns and Ruth Mason, both of Bethel, Josephine Savella of Omaha, Neb., and Rhonda Dalton of Florida; six sons, William Murphy of Alameda, Calif., Roy Murphy of West Bethel, Frank Murphy of Gilead, James Murphy of Tula, Tenn., Paul Murphy of Key West, Fla., and Chris Murphy of Oakland; a sister, Laverne Murphy of Durham, N.H.; many grandchildren, great-grandchildren and great-great-grandchildren. He was predeceased by two sons, Charles Ray Murphy and Robert Glen Murphy Jr. and three grandsons.

Funeral services were held at the Church of the Nazarene, Tuesday, June 22. Interment will be in the Evergreen Cemetery in Rangeley. In lieu of flowers, donations may be made to the Church of the Nazarene, Bethel, Me., 04217.

NAOMI K. BEAN

Naomi K. Bean, 93, of 12 Adelaide Road, Old Orchard Beach, formerly of Bethel, died Sunday, June 20, 1993, at her home.

She was born in Bethel Nov. 15, 1899, the daughter of Edwin H. and Malinda J. Barker Smith. She graduated from Gould Academy in the class of 1918 and was a teacher in Bethel schools until 1922. She moved to Old Orchard Beach in the 1930s. She was a widow of Herbert R. Bean, who died in 1971, the 50th year of their marriage. Mrs. Bean was a 50-year member of Tuesday Afternoon Dessert Bridge Club, a past president and 50-year member of C. Fayette Staples American Legion Auxiliary, a member of Old Orchard Beach Art Association and a member of the Rug Club.

Mrs. Bean is survived by three daughters, Valerie Chapman of Belgrade, Alice Dale and Constance Bean, both of Old Orchard Beach; three sons, Franklin Bean of Rumford, David H. Bean of Oldsmar, Fla., and Jonathan W. Bean of Lyman; 17 grandchildren, 25 great-grandchildren and one great-great-grandchild.

A memorial service will be held at 1 p.m., Sunday, June 27, at the Old Orchard Beach Funeral Home, 36 Portland Ave. Those who desire may make memorial contributions to Southern Maine Hospice, c/o Visiting Nurse Service of Southern Maine, Industrial Park Road, Saco, Me., 04072.

Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Doughty

Martha Helen Stearns and Douglas Allen Doughty of South Portland were united in marriage at the Rumford Point Congregational Church on April 24, 1993. The Revs. Genevieve Heywood and Andrew Gibson officiated.

The bride is the daughter of Warren and Marcia Stearns of Hanover and the groom is the son of Dwight and Joan Doughty, Sr. of Cumberland. The bride wore an ivory satin gown with portrait collar and was given in matrimony by her father.

The matron of honor was Rebecca Cyr, sister of the bride, and bridesmaids were Nancy Stearns, sister-in-law of the bride, Kathleen Gardner and Cindy Mayrand, friends of the bride.

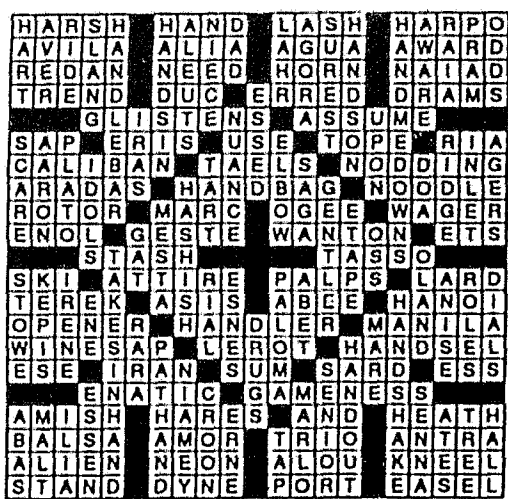

The best man was Everett Littlefield, friend of the groom. Ushers were Dwight Doughty, Jr., brother of the groom, Tim Gardner, Jason Ohman and Ryan Floyd, friends of the groom.

Following a wedding reception at Sunday River Ski Resort's Summit Hotel, the couple left for a wedding trip to Bermuda.

The bride graduated from Rumford High School and Dartmouth College and is employed at Blue Cross and Blue Shield of Maine.

The groom graduated from Greely High School and the University of Maine-Orono and is employed at Community Care Systems of Maine. The couple are residing in South Portland.

IN LOVING MEMORY

Of Robert Lowe

January 18, 1923-June 28, 1990
You told me that you loved me
And then you went away
And left me here alone dear
With so much left to say.
I'd tell you how I'll love you
Until the seas run dry
And that my life without you
Is a constant question "Why"
But I know you are free now,
Of toil, fear and pain.
And God will hold you close dear,
Till we see you again.
And it seems when the going
Gets more than we can stand,
You are walking here beside us,
Giving us a helping hand.
I feel you close beside me,
In early morning hush,
And late at night I wake sometimes
And think I feel your touch.
We miss you and we love you
No one can take that away,
And I know we'll be together
With you again one day.

Sadly missed by,
Wife, Mona, Children and Grandchildren
